

MF & PARTNERS CONSULTING workshop program for the « Journées du E-Learning »: LYON: 28th and 29th of June 2011
“E-Learning, Childhood of Art”

Research project ANGELS on augmented reality applied to an E-learning training on safety at work & operating experience feedback of the serious games LEADERCRAFT on personal skills:

Approximate duration: 1.15 hours, from 11am to 12.30pm, Friday the 28th of June.

We will split the workshop in 2 with a first part concerning the current European research project, ANGELS (Augmented Network Generating Learning on Safety) and a second part focused on the operating experience feedback of the users of our serious games LEADERCRAFT which were officially presented, last year, for the first time, during the “Journées du E-learning” 2012 (Workshop and Stand).

Our workshop will illustrate this year’s theme which reminds us that beyond the spread technology, what matters is the use that we make of this technology to elaborate an efficient E-learning training system. The aim of the project ANGELS is to create a training tool on safety at work using the augmented reality (insertion of virtual 3D images to real images). The use of the augmented reality which allows the illustration of real situations in a virtual way, presents a certain advantage, as regards risks.

The users’ testimony of our serious games LEADERCRAFT range in personal skills will allow an exchange of point of views on the use of training tools stemming from New Technologies of Information and Communication, in particular from video games.
